And, suddenly, Guarnido came with a perfect and stylish drawing and he submerged us no longer in a caricatural and moralizing fable, but on another planet as violent, absurd and wonderfully as ours, but in which the deep nature of the characters is revealed by a kind of a crazy clairvoyance under the maximum perfection animal form

BLACKSAD. ALGÚN LUGAR ENTRE LAS SOMBRAS JUANJO GUARNIDO

Consejería de Educación y Cultura de la Ciudad Autónoma de Ceuta presents the exhibition “Juanjo Guarnido. Blacksad. Somewhere between the shadows”, a panorama across the extraordinary career of this famous Spanish artist. Curated by Mario Martín Pareja and produced by Contemporanea.

Juanjo Guarnido (Granada, 1967) is known particularly for the ‘Blacksad’ serie (Dargaud). This stunning animal, who was the rising star in the comic scene in 2000, is the main character of this film noir serie which takes place in the USA, in the beginning of the Cold War. ‘Blacksad’ revealed this young talented Spanish artist who came from the animation studios -Disney, among others, to the international comic scene.

Five volumes have been edited up until now. All of the characters are anthropomorphic animals whose species reflects their personality, character type and role in the story. John Blacksad is a II World War veteran, an ordinary American private investigator, except in his animal nature. A humanised cat with more than seven lives who has sold more than a million and a half copies all over the world and has been translated to more than twenty languages. His adventures have been recognized as a very high-quality comic without frontiers, plenty of cultural references and with a powerful execution. A master piece of the genre.

THE EXHIBITION

But of course, the exhibition is not only about ‘Blacksad’. Before getting into this big section of the show, the Guarnido’s beginnings as a cartoonist and his following steps in the animation studios, also in Walt Disney Studios are also displaying. Drawings, sketches, objects, documents and memorabilia have been collected for this occasion. Emotive texts by Juan Diaz Canales -‘Blacksad’ scriptwriter, and François Le Bescond -‘Blacksad’ editor from Dargaud, have been written for the show.

‘Blacksad’ is a prominent section of the exhibition because it is the Guarnido’s main personal work. The show includes sources of inspiration for Guarnido and Diaz Canales, original pages of the albums, scripts, dismissed drawings, the whole collection of figurines and sculptures made in resin of the main characters of the serie, merchandising, etc. In essence, all the inner and outer universe of ‘Blacksad’ produced along these seventeen years.

In addition, there are videos about biographical and creative aspects of Juanjo Guarnido which guide us to know him even more.

Bio

Juanjo Guarnido (Granada, 1967) got his degree in Fine Arts in birth city Grenade. He cooperated on several local fanzines, while also made illustrations for the Spanish Marvel publications. He worked in an animation studio in Madrid for three years, where he met his future scriptwriter Juan Diaz Canales. Guarnido moved to Paris in 1993 and was employed by Walt Disney Studios in Montreuil-sur-Bois as a layout man and animator on films like 'Hunchback of the Notre Dame' (1996), 'Hercules' (1997) and 'Tarzan' (1999). In his spare time, he started making comics together with Canales. This eventually resulted in the launch of their critically acclaimed anthropomorphic black cat detective 'Blacksad', of which the first book was published by Dargaud in 2000. Guarnido's film noir-inspired comic is inhabited by a great many remarkable and unusual animal characters, including anthropomorphic cameos of famous persons and a wide range of reptile villains. It has been a success among critics and the public, and it has won the Best Artwork Award and the Best Series Award at the Angoulême International Comics Festival and two Eisner Prizes in San Diego ComicCon. The serie has been published in more than twenty different languages. Guarnido was also the cover artist and illustrator of the final installment for Pierre Boisserie's collective science fiction series 'Voyageur', that was published by Glénat between 2007 and 2011. With Canales' wife Teresa Valero he additionally set up the heroic fantasy children's series 'Sorcellières', that is published by Dargaud since 2008, and he has directed the animation film 'Nocturna'.
